OSH kids program winds up

The Old Stone House Museum's Kids' Friday program on Friday, July 24, featured its last visit by Green Mountain Farm-to-School's Lunchbox Program. Each week preschool to early elementary school aged children take home a free lunch, lesson plan, and heritage activity kit. The program was made possible by the A.D. Henderson Foundation, Frances M. Barnard Foundation, Vermont Humanities Council, and C & C Supermarket. Pictured jumping stones at the Old Stone House Museum's Grammar School is Phillip Dreher, age seven, of Newport.
