Old Stone House opening events

The Old Stone House Museum and Historic Village will be opening for private tours May 19. Details can be found here: <https://www.oldstonehousemuseum.org/museum-tours/>.

Also, there will be a virtual opening extravaganza. Join the Old Stone House Museum and Historic Village online each day May 12 through 16. There will be new videos, recipes, exhibits, activities, events, and more starting each morning at 9 a.m. at OldStoneHouseMuseum.org. Then, on select nights, join on Zoom video conferencing at 6 p.m. There is no charge.

"We hope everyone feels welcomed and will join us," said Molly Veysey, Old Stone House Museum and Historic Village executive director.

"We're looking forward to a great season."

The museum will air a previously unheard radio story about its 2020 Collectors' Fair, the last in-person event before COVID canceled the season. Independent producer Erica Heilman produced this story.

There will also be an audio visual remembrance of past gas and steam engine shows, and collections submitted by others for a virtual collectors' fair that includes a section just for kids can be viewed and discussed.

Sign up for Zoom talks and find more details at: <https://www.oldstonehousemuseum.org/virtual-opening-extravaganza/>. — from the Old Stone House.
