

Old Stone House Day 2022

Old Stone House Day has brought people from all over New England and beyond to historic Brownington Village for almost a century. This year, the Old Stone House Museum and Historic Village will unveil the year-long work of four artists selected to take part in the Open for Interpretation art project at Old Stone House Day 2022 on Sunday, August 14, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Each artist has completed a teaching residency for the museum and worked with area schools while completing their unique work.

“Our artists have done amazing work, from a graphic novel about Alexander Lucius Twilight to interpretive dance, weaving grasses, and an assembly quilt made from organic yard waste and perennial plantings,” Molly Veysey, the museum’s executive director, said. “Each artist was selected with help from middle school students at Brownington Central School.”

Old Stone House Day will also feature farm animals, rock painting, field games, crafts, self-portraits for families with children, heritage arts, a museum open house, and a pie auction.

On the main stage throughout the day, listen to the tunes of the Michael Hahn Trio, and Just Havin’ Fun with Debbie Hampson, Vicki Moore, and Paul Whittall.

Area artists will demonstrate the heritage arts, including rug braiding, weaving, spinning, felting, needlepoint, knitting, paper cutting, basket weaving and caning.

Thanks to generous support from the museum’s event sponsors, guests can also sample free cheese from Jasper Hill Farm and Cabot Creamery Co-operative, ice cream from H.P. Hood with cones from The Pick and Shovel and, for adults over 21, beer from Frost Beer Works and Dirt Church Brewing Company, as well as hard cider from Eden Specialty Ciders.

Also free with admission will be kettle coffee and roasted corn as there has been for each of the past 100 years. Shoppers can get a head start on holiday shopping at a craft vendor market. The apiary manager of the museum’s Brownington Beekeepers will be there demonstrating honey extraction and offering honey for sale.

Lunch will be available for a small price from the Ladies Aid Society of Brownington.

Pies can be entered and bid upon during the live pie auction featuring the region’s best bakers. Free admission will be given to all those who enter a pie. Email publicevents@oldstonehousemuseum.org to enter baked goods.

“There’s something for everyone in your family at this year’s Old Stone House Day,” Kristal Wood, the museum’s associate director of public events, said. “Bring your whole family to enjoy some great food and tour the museum at no cost. You’ll want to sign up early as seating is limited for some of our performances.”

Early bird tickets are on sale now for $10 per vehicle. Admission costs $15 per vehicle the day of the event. Old Stone House Museum and Historic Village members are invited to enter free. Find all the details and get tickets at www.OldStoneHouseMuseum.org.

Old Stone House Day 2022 is made possible by generous support from the Chronicle and The Ladies Aid Society of Brownington, as well as the businesses listed above for the products they have donated.

Funding for the Open for Interpretation art project was made possible by the Vermont Arts Council and a Northern Forest Destination Development Initiative grant from the Northeastern Vermont Development Association, Northern Forest Center and Northern Border Regional Commission. — from the Old Stone House Museum.
